Nunavut Law Foundation Board of Directors

Victoria Perrie ᓇᓕᓕᓕᓕᓕᓕᓕᓕ ᐱᓕᓕᓕᓕ

The Nunavut Law Foundation proudly welcomes newly appointed Director Victoria Perrie, beginning her two-year mandate on November 30, 2023. A queer Métis-Cree lawyer and artist, Victoria's expertise transcends traditional boundaries, integrating law and art with a passion for Indigenous empowerment. Victoria holds a Juris Doctor and a Bachelor of Arts, supplemented by invaluable mentorship from influential Indigenous artists. Her legal acumen is recognized through her calls to the Nunavut, Manitoba, and New Brunswick Bars. As a seasoned litigator, she's also made her mark in international and Canadian legal publications, tackling issues from gender-based violence to Indigenous statelessness. Her artistic journey spans over 26 years in theater, where she has excelled as a director, playwright, poet, and actor, fostering a unique blend of legal and artistic narratives. Victoria's leadership roles in the Nishtis Collective and Native Youth Theatre highlight her commitment to nurturing Indigenous talent. Victoria's diverse experiences—ranging from international legal consultation to community-based art and legal education—underscore her dedication to driving change for Indigenous peoples. Her work reflects a deep commitment to justice, education, and the arts, all essential to building empowered, thriving Indigenous communities.
